

SafetyWorks Group Alex Jankiewicz Passion for Making a Difference Awards 2011

Each year SafetyWorks honors the memory of Alex Jankiewicz for his contributions to health and safety by presenting the annual 'Passion for Making a Difference' award. The two categories are:

1. RBS Employee Passion for Making a Difference Award
2. RBS Leader Passion for Making a Difference Award

We are now calling for nominations from all organizations participating in the SafetyWorks Reinforcement Based Safety (RBS) process to nominate people from their organisation who demonstrate a 'Passion for Making a Difference' in relation to Reinforcement Based Safety.

Four reasons to nominate a colleague, workmate or leader for the Passion for Making a Difference Awards

1. Tell their story

Proudly share with others within the SafetyWorks network the contribution that your colleague, workmate or leader has made to the safety culture of your organization.

2. Inspire and influence others

Inspire and influence others in their safety journey through hearing what the nominees have done to contribute to your organisation's achievements in Reinforcement Based Safety.

3. Be proud

Be proud for what the nominees have done to contribute to the safety achievements in your organization's journey towards a workplace that is free from harm.

4. Celebrate

Celebrate with other like minded people the achievements of those who have demonstrated a passion for making a difference.
